

“

The expansion of Fiumicino Airport represents a strategic project for the future of our city and of the entire national airport system. It will create new opportunities for economic growth, employment and infrastructure development - and will strengthen Fiumicino's role as the country's international gateway. [...]

The strategic role it plays must be managed with a long-term vision and with particular attention to the citizens' quality of life. The airport's growth will be carried out in full respect of the environment and the protected area, and the democratic process remains central: the final decision rests with the Council and the reserve authority, while it will be up to the Government to define the next strategies in the interest of the area and the national system.

”

MARIO BACCINI

Mayor of Fiumicino
Corriere della Sera Roma