

So, as Mayor Baccini previously recalled with a smile, he clearly commits to Fiumicino airport because he knows well that its growth brings significant benefits to the citizens, and undoubtedly allows those who live in Fiumicino to have highly interesting employment opportunities. This and much more are part of the Masterplan - a Masterplan that is not only about infrastructure works, but also about developing within a framework whereby the Masterplan aligns with the National Airport Plan that Minister Salvini will issue in the coming days. The National Airport Plan ensures the policy framework within which companies can plan their growth. The Masterplan is effectively what accompanies the NAP and initiates the implementation of infrastructure works that will allow our country to maintain this vision related to air transport. Air transport that has effectively become the engine of our country's economy.
