

“

With the fourth runway, which will strengthen the relevance of our region and the centrality of the airport - also reaffirmed in the new National Airports Plan presented to the Ministry of Transport this morning - Fiumicino continues its relentless growth path. [...]

Vision and choices that have recognized the strategic importance of Rome's main airport, and have allowed us to consolidate the exceptional leadership that we already obtained last year with record traffic, as well as with European and global awards. [...]

Italy and the region of Lazio will grow if investments in strategic infrastructure are strong and constant. Fiumicino's new structure will contribute to consolidating and increasing the country's competitiveness, improving its global connectivity.
